Specifically, the Bank may use your data:

1) To allow for the proper management of the relationship in the pre-contractual and contractual phase, including the execution of all related activities (by way of example but not limited to: credit and financial services, management of personal assets and real estate, credit recovery, management of insurance activities and related activities, surveying the quality of the services provided).

In performance of the activities described, the Bank may also process special categories of personal data for which explicit consent is required (such as in the case of management of claims on behalf of insurance companies), without prejudice to the specific cases provided by the Regulation that involve processing even in the absence of consent.

Moreover, subject only to your freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous consent, may the Bank use your data through prevalently automated methods (following channels: e-mail, telephone, internet, app or other communication systems) and also on paper for:

This information may be acquired internally (by analysing current account transactions and financial situation in general, including navigation in the personal area of the Bank's website), or from external sources (so-called enrichment of the Bank's database); processing set of information allows the Bank to divide customers into categories that are homogeneous in terms of behaviour or specific characteristics, in order to be able to offer products and services that are consistent with their needs.

Processing of the aforementioned data is not compulsory for the execution of the contract, therefore your consent is required, without which you will not be able to receive "dedicated" commercial communications.

It may also be necessary for the Bank to process your data in order to pursue its own legitimate interest, subject to its being commensurate with your reasonable expectations and provided that your interests and fundamental freedoms are not prejudiced; the Bank's legitimate interest includes the processing of data for the performance of activities functional to the implementation of any transactions, including intra-group transactions, including, by way of example, securitisation, credit assignments and the issuance of securities, transfers of companies and business units, mergers and demergers, as well as for the implementation of commercial collaboration, including intra-group collaboration, in order to improve the integrated use of the technical solutions offered to support commercial processes.
