Fitch Rates Banca Akros S.p.A. 'BBB'; Outlook Stable

Fitch Ratings - Milan - 02 Apr 2026: Fitch Ratings has assigned Banca Akros S.p.A. a Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) of 'BBB' with Stable Outlook. A full list of rating actions is below.

Key Rating Drivers

Shareholder Support Drives Ratings: Akros' IDRs and Shareholder Support Rating (SSR) are equalised with the IDRs of its parent, Banco BPM S.p.A. (BBPM; BBB/Stable/F2). They reflect Fitch's view that there is a high probability of support in case of need. The equalisation reflects Akros' strategic importance for BBPM and its high integration with its parent. BBPM has a strong ability to provide support if needed as Akros' limited size relative to the overall group is unlikely to represent a constraint.

Strategically Important to BBPM: Akros is the corporate and investment banking subsidiary of BBPM, Italy's fourth-largest domestic bank. It complements BBPM's product offering with capital markets, brokerage and corporate finance activities, serving the group's mid-market corporate clientele, but also the parent.

High Integration into Group: Fitch does not assign a Viability Rating (VR) to Akros because its franchise cannot be disentangled from that of its parent. Akros' performance benefits from significant synergies and strong integration with the parent in terms of operations, management, risk, regulatory oversight and balance-sheet fungibility.

Rating Sensitivities

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Negative Rating Action/Downgrade

Akros' IDRs would be downgraded if BBPM's IDRs were downgraded. They would also be downgraded if its strategic importance to BBPM were reduced, which we currently do not expect.

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Positive Rating Action/Upgrade

Akros' IDRs would be upgraded if BBPM's IDRs were upgraded.

ESG Considerations

The highest level of ESG credit relevance is a score of '3', unless otherwise disclosed in this section. A score of '3' means ESG issues are credit neutral or have only a minimal credit impact on the entity, either due to their nature or the way in which they are being managed by the entity. Fitch's ESG Relevance Scores are not inputs in the rating process; they are an observation on the relevance and materiality of ESG factors in the rating decision. In issuing and maintaining its ratings and in making other reports (including forecast information), Fitch relies on factual information it receives from issuers and underwriters and from other sources Fitch believes to be credible. Fitch conducts a reasonable investigation of the factual information relied upon by it in accordance with its ratings methodology, and obtains reasonable verification of that information from independent sources, to the extent such sources are available for a given security or in a given jurisdiction. The manner of Fitch's factual investigation and the scope of the third-party verification it obtains will vary depending on the nature of the rated security and its issuer, the requirements and practices in the jurisdiction in which the rated security is offered and sold and/or the issuer is located, the availability and nature of relevant public information, access to the management of the issuer and its advisers, the availability of pre-existing third-party verifications such as audit reports, agreed-upon procedures letters, appraisals, actuarial reports, engineering reports, legal opinions and other reports provided by third parties, the availability of independent and competent third-party verification sources with respect to the particular security or in the particular jurisdiction of the issuer, and a variety of other factors. Users of Fitch's ratings and reports should understand that neither an enhanced factual investigation nor any third-party verification can ensure that all of the information Fitch relies on in connection with a rating or a report will be accurate and complete. Ultimately, the issuer and its advisers are responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide to Fitch and to the market in offering documents and other reports. In issuing its ratings and its reports, Fitch must rely on the work of experts, including independent auditors with respect to financial statements and attorneys with respect to legal and tax matters. Further, ratings and forecasts of financial and other information are inherently forward-looking and embody assumptions and predictions about future events that by their nature cannot be verified as facts. As a result, despite any verification of current facts, ratings and forecasts can be affected by future events or conditions that were not anticipated at the time a rating or forecast was issued or affirmed. Fitch Ratings makes routine, commonly-accepted adjustments to reported financial data in accordance with the relevant criteria and/or industry standards to provide financial metric consistency for entities in the same sector or asset class.

The complete span of best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings for all rating categories ranges from 'AAA' to 'D'. Fitch also provides information on best-case rating upgrade scenarios and worst-case rating downgrade scenarios (defined as the 99th percentile of rating transitions, measured in each direction) for international credit ratings, based on historical performance. A simple average across asset classes presents best-case upgrades of 4 notches and worst-case downgrades of 8 notches at the 99th percentile. For more details on sector-specific best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings, please see Best- and Worst-Case Measures under the Rating Performance page on Fitch's website.

This opinion and reports made by Fitch are based on established criteria and methodologies that Fitch is continuously evaluating and updating. Therefore, ratings and reports are the collective work product of Fitch and no individual, or group of individuals, is solely responsible for a rating or a report. The rating does not address the risk of loss due to risks other than credit risk, unless such risk is specifically mentioned. Fitch is not engaged in the offer or sale of any security. All Fitch reports have shared authorship. Individuals identified in a Fitch report were involved in, but are not solely responsible for, the opinions stated therein. Fitch receives fees from issuers, insurers, guarantors, other obligors, and underwriters for rating securities. Such fees generally vary from US$1,000 to US$750,000 (or the applicable currency equivalent) per issue. In certain cases, Fitch will rate all or a number of issues issued by a particular issuer, or insured or guaranteed by a particular insurer or guarantor, for a single annual fee. Such fees are expected to vary from US$10,000 to US$1,500,000 (or the applicable currency equivalent).
